Jeskyně. Capri není sopečného původu, ale jeskyní má spoustu.

CAPRI

A photograph of a sea cave entrance. The cave is carved into a rock face with distinct horizontal layers. The water inside is clear and blue. The entrance is dark, creating a strong contrast with the bright exterior. The rock walls are textured and show signs of weathering. The water is calm, reflecting the light from the entrance.

A group of people, mostly women, are gathered in a shop or market stall, likely participating in a food tasting event. The shop has glass display cases filled with various products, including what appears to be honey or jam jars. The people are dressed in casual, summer-appropriate clothing. One woman in the foreground is wearing a red halter-neck top and carrying a white tote bag with 'EXPO' written on it. Another woman is wearing a blue top and sunglasses. The background shows a doorway leading to another area, possibly an outdoor market. The overall atmosphere is busy and social.

Švédský spisovatel, lékař, pacifista, filantrop a ochránce zvířat Axel Munthe proslavil Anacapri především svou knihou O životě a smrti. Řadu let zde žil ve vlastním domku, obyvatele přesvědčil, aby nelovili tažné ptáky. Věnoval se vykopávkám, založil zde i muzeum a svůj domek posléze odkázal stejnojmenné nadaci.
